What you need to know

What your doctor prescribes for you will depend on:

- how long you've had your condition
- how severe your symptoms are
- how you feel about taking medicine
- how you respond to treatment
- how you feel about taking medicine

From your doctor, you will receive information:

1. How long you should take your medicine

Most people with trigeminal neuralgia take their medicine for the rest of their lives. But some people can stop taking their medicine after a few weeks or months. This depends on how well your medicine works and how you feel about taking it. Your doctor will tell you how long you should take your medicine.
